Chapter 413: The Evolution of Mythical Beings

A New Dawn for Mythical Creatures

Sung Jin-Woo turned his attention to the mythical creatures that roamed various realms. These beings, embodiments of majesty and power, had always stood apart from others due to their unique forms and extraordinary abilities. To bring them closer to the evolving multiverse, Sung Jin-Woo extended his divine will, reshaping them into humanoid beings while preserving their core essence.

The Evolutionary Process

Through a cascade of divine energy, these mythical creatures were transformed, gaining humanoid forms that combined their original traits with enhanced intelligence and adaptability.

1. Griffins:

Original Form: Half-lion, half-eagle.

Evolved Form: Griffin-Humans, humanoids with powerful wings, sharp talons, and keen eyesight. Their noble stature commanded respect and fear.

2. Pegasuses:

Original Form: Winged horses of celestial beauty.

Evolved Form: Pegasus-Humans, humanoids with ethereal wings and an aura of serenity. They could heal allies and soar through the skies effortlessly.

3. Wyverns:

Original Form: Smaller, winged dragon-like creatures.

Evolved Form: Wyvern-Humans, humanoids with scaled arms that doubled as wings, fiery breath, and unmatched aerial agility.

4. Unicorns:

Original Form: Graceful horses with a single magical horn.

Evolved Form: Unicorn-Humans, humanoids with a radiant horn on their forehead, capable of purifying corruption and casting powerful light magic.

5. Fenrirs:

Original Form: Gigantic, mystical wolves.

Evolved Form: Fenrir-Humans, humanoids with lupine features, heightened senses, and feral strength. They became fearsome warriors and loyal protectors.

6. Phoenixes:

Original Form: Immortal, flame-born birds.

Evolved Form: Phoenix-Humans, humanoids with flaming wings and the ability to resurrect themselves and others, symbolizing eternal life.

Other Mythical Creatures Evolved

Sung Jin-Woo's transformative reach extended to a wide array of mythical beings, granting them humanoid forms:

1. Dragons: Already evolved into Dragon-Humans in the earlier wave, further refined with humanoid grace.

2. Manticores: Manticore-Humans, blending human intelligence with lion-like strength and scorpion tails.

3. Hydras: Hydra-Humans, humanoids with multiple heads that could regenerate when severed, exuding poisonous magic.

4. Chimeras: Chimera-Humans, a fusion of multiple animal traits with incredible versatility in combat.

5. Nagas: Naga-Humans, serpentine beings with humanoid torsos, masters of venom and deception.

6. Basilisks: Basilisk-Humans, humanoids with piercing gazes capable of petrifying foes, and scales impenetrable by most weapons.

7. Cerberuses: Cerberus-Humans, humanoids with immense strength and three wolf-like heads, guardians of realms.

8. Hippogriffs: Hippogriff-Humans, graceful and swift, combining traits of horses and eagles.

9. Krakens: Kraken-Humans, towering humanoids with tentacle-like limbs and mastery over oceans.

10. Leprechauns: Leprechaun-Humans, mischievous and clever beings capable of manipulating luck and wealth.

A Unified Multiverse of Myths

These humanoid evolutions allowed mythical creatures to integrate seamlessly into the broader multiverse, contributing their unique strengths and wisdom to its collective advancement.

1. Enhanced Unity: Mythical beings, once bound by isolation or instinct, now shared a common purpose with other humanoid races.

2. Unleashed Potential: With their newfound intelligence and adaptability, these beings began exploring magic, science, and arts previously beyond their reach.

3. Cultural Renaissance: These evolved creatures enriched the multiverse with their stories, traditions, and craftsmanship, creating vibrant civilizations.

A New Purpose for Mythical Beings

Grateful for their transformation, these humanoid mythical beings pledged unwavering loyalty to Sung Jin-Woo. They became:

1. Guardians of the Realms: Protecting their worlds from external threats.

2. Leaders of Progress: Guiding their people in their newly evolved states.

3. Warriors of the Divine Army: Joining the Divine Triad’s forces to defend the multiverse.

A Multiverse in Harmony

Sung Jin-Woo’s actions brought the mythical and the mortal closer than ever, fostering a multiverse where diversity thrived in unity. The once-mythical creatures, now humanoid, embraced their new identities and became vital contributors to the harmony and prosperity of the realms.